COUNTY LANDFILL EARNS CARBON CREDITS

Crow Wing County's Landfill has earned 58,832 metric tons of carbon offset credits from 2008 through 2012, worth approximately $242,000. The landfill's gas collection system reduces the amount of methane, a greenhouse gas, which is emitted to the atmosphere. Carbon offset credits are awarded to projects that reduce greenhouse gas emissions. Businesses purchase credits to offset their greenhouse gas emissions and reduce their carbon footprint.

"The county landfill is reducing air pollution by lowering green house gas emissions to the atmosphere" stated Land Services Supervisor Chris Pence. "This is another example of a proactive approach by Crow Wing County to effectively manage local resources and honestly, it is the right thing to do."

The fiscal benefit of these credits is off setting the initial cost to install the active gas system. Plus, an additional savings comes from using landfill gas to heat two buildings located at the landfill site.

The County's integrated solid waste management system has a range of opportunities from recycling and disposal of hazardous waste in-addition to the County's state-of-the art landfill. The County intends to continue to examine new technologies to maintain and improve land disposal to maximize cost-effective means to protect the environment.
